“We’re focused on making shopping less complicated for our customers each and every visit and that means our staff go above and beyond for our customers even on the busiest days of the year,” says Mahlman.

Here are three more reasons to shop Canadian retailers this Black Friday and Cyber Monday:

1. Throughout the year, Canadian retailers are constantly working to exceed the expectations of Canadian customers, competitively pricing consumer electronics relative to the U.S. In fact, London Drugs’ vendor partners in Canada are providing a more extensive list of Black Friday deals than they ever have before.
2. Many high tech products and items like kitchen appliances purchased in the U.S. are only serviceable in the U.S.; something customers need to be aware of in case a problem occurs. When shopping at London Drugs, customers have warranty and service at their fingertips, with no hassle.
3. Cross-border shoppers often spend a large chunk of time sitting in traffic, burning expensive fuel. With virtually all Canadian retailers now embracing Black Friday, the majority of the same products and deals can be found locally.
